MR. CANNING'S PLATFORM.

J. W. Canning, whose nomination as a candidate for the office of city marshal was filed on Friday, announces his platform as follows:

"A faithful and conscientious performance of every official duty.

"An impartial enforcement of all city ordinances.

"A reducing to a minimum of the number of 'common drunk' cases now being taken care of by justice of the peace courts of this city.

"I will make it impossible for your boy, or for any habitual drunkard known, or to be made known to me, to secure intoxicating liquors in any saloon in the city of Phoenix.

"I will see that all ordinances prohibiting gambling are strictly enforced, and will stop the illegal serving of intoxicating liquors to women and young girls in restaurants, hotels, wine rooms or other places in the city of Phoenix."

MARK SMITH'S TASK WILL BE BEGUN TODAY

Former Delegate Arrived At Washington Last Night.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(Special.)—Mark Smith arrived here tonight, coming at the request of many Arizonians to see what he could do toward removing statehood for Arizona from its present tangle. Mr. Smith will see Delegate Cameron in the morning.

He does not believe there will be any difficulty in getting matters adjusted in the house and he is hopeful that what opposition there is in the senate may be easily reconciled. He will begin conferring with his friends among the senators tomorrow, and as early as he can arrange a hearing he will call upon President Taft.

Delegate Cameron presented in the house today a memorial from the board of trade of Phoenix asking for the aid of congress in restricting the ravages of alfalfa leaf weevil.

Mr. Cameron also introduced a pension bill in favor of Mrs. Susan Whitmore of Phoenix. It provides for $12 a month.

KING GEORGE OF GREECE.

An Adopted Monarch Who Has Got Along Very Well.

The Danish royal family was lucky in securing thrones, but Prince William Christian Alphonse George, who reigns in Greece today under the name of George I, King of the Hellenes (not of Greece but of the Greeks), is the luckiest of all, according to the Eastern and Western Review, for anarchism in Greece is unknown and royalty walks freely and unmolested.

King George has comparatively an easy time of it. Gifted with no small share of worldly goods, for besides the civil list granted by the Greek government he receives an additional grant from the three protecting powers—England, Russia, and France—he is therefore considered one of the richest rulers in Europe. The court expenses, both private and public, are limited; no one could accuse the king of undue display or of squandering his royal estate.

Both he and the queen set an example by their simplicity of living, both at home and in their travels abroad. They brought up their family as in the democratic spirit of the country.

Forty-three years ago the king married the young and beautiful Grand Duchess Olga Constantinovna of Russia. The crown prince, and his son, Prince George, having been born in Greece and brought up in the national creed of the country, the Greek Orthodox church, are looked upon as native Greek princes by the nation with which they have wholly and entirely identified themselves.

It was a difficult task for any one coming into a country that had been divided by internal strife, after expelling its ruler, to reign over a turbulent race as yet unused to any higher authority. Happily the king adapted himself to circumstances, and aided by a natural gift of foresight and keen intelligence won the respect and devotion of his subjects. He assumed for his motto, "My strength lies in the love of my people," which pleased every Greek heart.

BAKING FOR AN ARMY.

No feature of the United States maneuver camp at San Antonio has attracted more attention than the division bakery. The bakery can turn out 20,000 two-pound loaves daily, and is at present delivering about half that quantity, and it is good bread.

This is the first time that the bakery has been called upon to feed a division of regulars, and it is performing the task without half trying. Captain L. R. Holbrook of the Fifth cavalry and Commissary Sergeant Pat Dunne invented the bakery and patented it, and then let the war department have the use of it for nothing.

Ovens and accessories are designed to fit into one wagon without exceeding the 6,000 pound limit. The ovens are built of sheet iron and asbestos. Car-
